

kept the place. Stumpy (he died about 7 or 8 yrs ago) did not live with his wife but had another woman living at that place with him. said that Gillin's Road House was a hangout for many women.

G.T.P. 8/28/26

-----

Fred Kesselring works at the Sadonia Mills Inc., cor of Munson and Franklin Sts., Astoria, L.I. Recognized an old picture of Anna King as Mary Hisleitner. He stated that he obtained a divorce from her and never heard of her after that. They were married in Paterson, N.J., before Justice of Peace White and could not remember the date of the marriage. He divorced her on the grounds of adultery, which action she did not contest. She came to court the day of the trial but disappeared a few months after case was started. He stated that Mary Kesselring was arrested for being an inmate of a disorderly house under the name of May Ray (tho he is not sure she used this name). She sued the Hoboken Evening News for slander. Kesselring stated that he was 21 yrs old and she was about 16 yrs at the time of their marriage in 1891. He got his divorce Jan. 4, 1898. He stated that she had 2 still-born children and he left her after the second child. At the time he got his divorce she was arrested in a disorderly house in Hoboken, N.J. Messingkop, a detective attached to Hoboken Police Department, aided him in getting